UPCOMING EVENTS INCLUDE CASA ROBLES AND ELKS CAR SHOWS, AUTORAMA

April showers... will hopefully be brief, and let us get on to the business of spring car shows. Toward the end of this month (many, hopefully) CCM members will be dusting off our cars and going to the Casa Robles High School. Not only is this a nice and large show -- last year they drew almost 300 cars -- but also the show is to benefit the Casa Robles Auto program. Casa is one of the few high schools left that has an auto program. We hope they will continue this, and we want to do our part to help.

At the end of the month is Autorama, we have 10 CCM vehicles entered - 6 classic Mopars, 3 modern Mopars, and a truck. We hope this showing will help show Sacramento that Mopars are here to stay, are a fast and good looking alternative to the dime-a-dozen cars, and draw some new members to our club.

For those of us who like to plan ahead, the Elk's Annual Car Show is May 6. The Carmichael Elks have stood by our club with decades of delicious Holiday Party dinners and in the last couple years making the time and space for our annual Car Show. Although, as the illustration above indicates, we won't have our show there this year, we still want to show the Elks our loyalty and support -- so let's make a good showing at this nice local show. Club members Jake and Randy Pike coordinate the Elk's show, another reason to take our cars to say hi.

One last note about our show: We're very optimistic this year, but to warn everyone, negotiations are not entirely finalized with Hagan Park, so keep your fingers crossed!

FOLSOM POWERHOUSE TOUR WAS A SMASHING SUCCESS!

Nearly a dozen CCM members met last Saturday at El Camino High School for their annual car show. They had over 100 cars and presented a nice, low key show with good weather and good music.

After that we descended on J Wild's Burgers and BBQ in old town Folsom for a good lunch, and segued on to the the Historic Folsom Powerhouse for a tour of one the first A/C hydroelectric power houses in the country - in the world in fact. 11 of us took the very interesting tour and learned about high voltage transmission, water powered generators (alternators, really), and the electric party Sacramento threw to announce and celebrate electricity coming to the area in 1895. This party was the inspiration for Disneyland's Electric Light Parade!

Thanks muchly to Norm for arranging this tour for us!

Note: This type of event seems to be popular with our club. So we'll try to schedule more like this. Please tell us if you have ideas for such an event, or better yet are willing and able to plan and present the event.

Another Note: It's not really a lot of work to plan and "host" most of the events we like to do, a few hours before the event and a commitment to be there for the event, greet everyone and see that it runs smoothly. But when only a few people do every event for a year, it becomes very difficult. If a few members can step up and take charge of just one event each, it will lessen the load and help us to do more quality events, and make them more enjoyable too. We'll help you too.

Safety in numbers, they say -- also FUN in numbers! Come out for more events, you'll enjoy them and make them more enjoyable for all your friends too!

LAST DODGE CHALLENGER MAKES 1,025 HP, HAS OPTIONAL PARACHUTE ATTACHMENTS

courtesy Peter Valdes-Dapena, CNN/Stelantis

With Dodge's legendary V8-powered muscle cars going out of production at year-end, engineers wanted the last non-electric Dodge Challenger to make a statement. Sort of a very fast, very loud, statement: A final salute to the fuel-burning era. Buyers just might want to attach a parachute.

The Demon 170 will be able to go from zero to 60 miles an hour in just under 1.7 seconds under ideal circumstances, according to Dodge. (Ideal circumstances would include a professional driver and a properly prepared drag strip.) A possible add-on is a parachute mounting system — parachute not included — to aid in drag-strip stops. It will be sold separately under Dodge's Direct Connection-brand, and is designed to bolt onto the back of the car.

The unveiling of the 1,025 horsepower Dodge Challenger SRT Demon 170 has been long anticipated, and long delayed. Engineers kept blowing up engines during development testing, said Tim Kuniskis, chief executive of Stellantis's Dodge brand. To deal with this engine's "massive, massive cylinder pressures" a lot of work had "to be done to make sure that the inside parts stay inside and not outside," he said.

To produce this much power, the engine relies on a supercharger, a mechanical air pump that forces air into the engine allowing more fuel to be burned and more power to be produced. The supercharger used on this car produces much higher pressures than the ones used on the already-powerful Dodge Hellcat SRT Demon model.

The result is a vehicle quicker than some high-performance all-wheel-drive electric cars like the Pininfarina Battista and the Tesla Model S Plaid.

The Demon 170 is not electric, though, and it's also rear-wheel-drive only, with an eight-speed transmission. (An all-wheel-drive electric car, with better traction and a single-speed transmission, could require less specialized conditions and less highly skilled driving to achieve its quickest zero-to-60 time.)

There are trade-offs for the Demon's performance, though. Kuniskis described the car's fuel economy as "terrible," without giving any specific numbers. He did say that, at full throttle, the car could completely drain its tank of racing fuel in about five minutes and 45 seconds. That figure is largely theoretical, since it would be hard to find anywhere to drive the car at full throttle for that long.

The Demon 170 will produce its maximum horsepower using racing fuel, called E85, that's up to 85% alcohol. That's where the number 170 in the car's name comes from. If E85 were liquor it would be "170 proof" — a liquor's proof number is double its alcohol percentage. (Drinking racing fuel is not recommended and can be fatal.) With the more ordinary sort of fuel you can get from a street-side gas station, which is mostly gasoline, the Demon 170 can produce up to 900 horsepower, according to Dodge.

"This is a serious car. This is a race car," said Kuniskis. "You know, it's not going to be a smooth-riding drive-it-to-church car." Buyers will need to sign a notarized disclaimer stating that they understand this is not a normal car intended for everyday driving.

It's the last of a series of so-called Last Call special edition Dodge Challenger and four-door Dodge Charger models that Stellantis is producing to mark the end of these V8-powered models. Both cars will go out of production at the end of this year.

Prices for the Demon 170 will start at $96,666, not including an expected gas guzzler tax

ST PATRICK'S DAY PARADE WAS FUN FOR ALL!

Parades are always fun! Six of us painted our cars green for the occasion and showed them to more than ten thousand people at the St Patty's Parade in Old Sac. We took a chance on the weather, but the sun came out and gave us a bright, happy day. We waited for what seemed like ever (there's always waiting before a parade, but there's also visits with new and old friends, comparing the size of our... cars, and donuts), then at noon we rolled out and over the cobblestones. The crowd loved our cars, a couple over zealous bicycle "officers" liked a couple of our cars too much (ask Dave and Marie), and at the judging stand the announcer gave us a rousing introduction.

Thank you Cindy for arranging this for us, and we'll see you for the 4th of July parade!
